Welcome to this edition of “The Wings of the Coo”. This year has been a busy year for our foundation as we continue to intensify our efforts to realize Sachi’s dream. In addition to our usual activities, a unity cultural center was also launched.

We launched our “Global virtue entanglement expectant mother” campaign with our partners in Pakistan and Peru. We owe this great news to our volunteers. Their support is everything. In fact, what’s admirable about Sachi foundation’s efforts is passion, joy, conviction, creativity and courage that our volunteers bring to our projects, thus embodying the spirit of our common life of happiness. They are the reason our small foundation has built such a significant global footprint and worldwide reputation.

New volunteers have joined the Sachi Foundation community. We are looking forward to welcoming them to our foundation and having them engaged with our efforts. Nabo, a neighborhood website in Australia has helped us spread news of upcoming events like “Neighbor Day” and “Clean-up Australian Day”, thereby engaging our local communities.

We hope you enjoy this edition and find it interesting and resourceful. Thank You. -Wings of the Coo editors

Foundation news

Hello and welcome to the third edition of the “Wings of the Coo”. We have significant happenings and news that we would like to share with you.

Our regular clean up days have been successful events thanks to our volunteers who come and support our efforts to build on the traditional Australian culture and dreaming manifest.

Our sponsored “Tennen Saien Community Garden” in Ichikawa has regular meetings, market stalls - having great fun together.

In Pakistan, Resource Centre for Development Alternative (RCDA) is doing an excellent job promoting our expectant mother projects.

In October 2017, we participated in the celebration of the Birth of the Twin Manifestations with a Japanese Tea ceremony and devotional meetings.

In November 2017, we supported the World’s greatest shave with our wonderful volunteer, Misa taking part with the support of the St Columban’s college in Caboolture. She collected $3338 towards the Leukaemia Foundation.

In January 2018, MORE Junior and Global Conversation School in Fukusaki received funding for incorporating the virtue clustering within their curriculum.

In March 2018, we initiated the phase I of our expectant mother program.

In June 2018, we won YOU award for our regular bimonthly “Clean Up Australia day”.

In July 2018, we launched our expectant mother phase II program.

In September 8, 2018, we will have our marquee in Brisbane Matsuri Festival. Our marquee will assist us to promote our activities and accomplishments within the wider celebrating community.

In September 9, 2018, our sponsored research work on the global integration logistics systems will be presented in an International conference.

We offer prayers for the health and recovery of our cherished president Mr Oda and volunteer coordinator Ms Ryoko Sakamoto who are unwell.

Wishing you all the happiest and the best times ahead. Sachi Foundation Management team

Message from the board

Dear Co-workers,

On behalf of the board, we would like to thank all of you who have contributed to our success. Sachi Foundation collaborates with many similar minded organizations to spread happiness. Our Partnerships with RCDA and Unity Language centers have helped us greatly. Their enabling capabilities are crucial for the advancement of our mission and realization of Sachi's dream. So, let's see how 2018 really measured up with the best of our combined lines of efforts.

Research:

We discovered a whole new set of treasure troves of guidance from the Universal House of Justice to weave our discourse on "one common happiness for all". We now have gripping action research on global integration systems. Our foundation has sponsored the publication of significant number of journals and conference papers reaching to the global level policy recommendation and are still sponsoring more research efforts around the topics of global integration of "cultural festival states", "economy", "urban", "transport", "logistics", etc.

The board is hopeful that these efforts and learnings will keep the discourse communities pre-occupied over the course of years and decades to come.

Twin Manifestation Self-Similar Festival Celebration

We celebrated the global cultural and civilization self-similar events of the Twin Manifestation Birth with the reverence, hospitality and respect of Tea Ceremony and devotional meeting to extend our celebration into a broad platform of working together, joining efforts and sharing dreams- having lots of fun.

Tuition Lines of Effort,

At this stage, this is a segmented effort only happening for a limited number of clusters. This project has a start and end points.

We provided ten hours of tuition grant to help a student and his family. This funding enables him to complete his English language learning. We send our congratulations to him, his family and MORE Junior and Global English school.

Unity Cultural Center

We provided funding for a new cultural center as a ray of effort. The aim of the center is to formalize and expand our commitment to remove barriers in communication between different races and cultures.

In this center, we build, promote and safeguard discourses that connect the competency-based standards and skill sets of the science and technology faculties with the clustering and entanglements of the virtue sets and the hubs of efforts of the cultural festival states. In addition, these works have been coherently integrated with the essential core curriculum standards. This center will manage our directory of the Cultural Festival States. The center is hosted by our partner the unity language center.

Mikoshi, Yatai Tomorrow Together Project,

The board is committed in this line of effort and we have devoted a significant amount of finances and resources into this project. We know that it will enhance our experience of happiness for all by reflecting the festival lines of effort related to the coherence of the whole.

So far, we have significantly advanced into the logistic parts of the plan. Preparation is so vital to the success of this lines of effort.

Expectant Mother Empowerment Project

Virtues can be entangled in multiple ways. Our expectant mother project is a tale-tale interaction of virtues that includes all these paths. It is absolutely a privilege to be able to work with RCDA in Pakistan and with our partner in Peru in this project. We have high hopes to incorporate this project into the global framework for action and its lines of effort.

Dear friends, we are very excited to walk together in these paths of service and we love to hear any recommendations or suggestions that further improve our organization. Thank you all.

The Sachi Foundation's Board

An inspiring story from our partner RCDA to share with friends.

With the support of Sachi Foundation, developed flyer of prayer for expectant mother were used in our neighborhood.

I delivered this flyer to many expectant mothers during my home visits and as I was walking down to my neighbourhood and by chance I met a semi-literate woman friend who often consulted me about her reproductive health issues. We greeted each other and got to know that she is going to visit the doctor. I asked her what is the problem and she whispered me that she is on the way to abort her early pregnancy. She was very upset because this is going to be her sixth child. Now she has the permission of her husband for this Abortion.

On the corner of the road, I did a specific meaningful conversation about the existence of her unborn soul and encouraged her to go back to home and wait until tomorrow so that we can discuss this matter in detail. I asked her to tell your husband that at the moment I want to ponder more about this matter. So, the next morning, I reached her home and shared with her about the side effects of Abortion at spiritual, psychological and physical levels. Then I gave her the flyer and encouraged her to recite that prayer and meditate daily. From time to time I made home visits to them and prayed and consulted together.

Meanwhile, she has given a birth to that pure soul and I am happy to share with you the picture of this one month old baby girl Ms. Bisma on my lap taken today at her home. Actually, the conventional doctors-hospital wanted to operate the mother and asked her husband to manage finding bottles of blood but thanks God that she has managed to go through easy birthing (natural delivery) process.

The baby girl is on Exclusive Breastfeeding and the family is enjoying the presence of this new-comer. The mother is now taking interest in the Billings Ovulation Method of Natural Fertility Regulation as the natural family planning choice. I hope that the husband will cooperate with her to make it a success.

Congratulations to all of us and together, we can make the world a better place for everyone.

Nazli,
Expectant Mother Project Coordinator

A world without dreaming of happiness for all is not a sustainable world.

Returning to the common themes, “Are you dreaming of happiness for all? Is there, an objective reality that our happiness dreams can be connected? If so, what is that it makes a community happy?”

It seems that one of the biggest barriers to the worldwide spread of happiness is the poor quality of the community culture and ways of celebrating their achievements. The quality of the culture not only impacts how community members interact with each other but how community members see their realities and are able to reach to the totality of effort and capture the creative divine sparks together. Cultivating a virtue in the community and generating a new culture even when the community does not see a need for it or even dream of it, is the most courageous thing members of a community can possibly do. Therefore, it is so important to hear the two calls to success and prosperity of Abdu’l-Baha.

“Two calls to success and prosperity are being raised from the heights of the happiness of mankind, awakening the slumbering, granting sight to the blind, causing the heedless to become mindful, bestowing hearing upon the deaf, unloosing the tongue of the mute and resuscitating the dead.

The one is the call of civilization, of the progress of the material world. This pertaineth to the world of phenomena, promoteth the principles of material achievement, and is the trainer for the physical accomplishments of mankind. It compriseth the laws, regulations, arts and sciences through which the world of humanity hath developed; laws and regulations which are the outcome of lofty ideals and the result of sound minds, and which have stepped forth into the arena of existence through the efforts of the wise and cultured in past and subsequent ages. The propagator and executive power of this call is just government.

The other is the soul-stirring call of God, Whose spiritual teachings are safeguards of the everlasting glory, the eternal happiness and illumination of the world of humanity, and cause attributes of mercy to be revealed in the human world and the life beyond.

This second call is founded upon the instructions and exhortations of the Lord and the admonitions and altruistic emotions belonging to the realm of morality which, like unto a brilliant light, brighten and illumine the lamp of the realities of mankind. Its penetrative power is the Word of God.

However, until material achievements, physical accomplishments and human virtues are reinforced by spiritual perfections, luminous qualities and characteristics of mercy, no fruit or result shall issue therefrom, nor will the happiness of the world of humanity, which is the ultimate aim, be attained. For although, on the one hand, material achievements and the development of the physical world produce prosperity, which exquisitely manifests its intended aims, on the other hand dangers, severe calamities and violent afflictions are imminent.”
